Welfare for the rich, paid for by families who work and pay their taxes?	Indeed. Taxpayer-paid government program for families making more than $206,000 a year	Care is for needy kids from working families only. (Sorry, Paris.).
Government health care for everybody?	HillaryCare Lite. The expansion of a current welfare program to achieve Sen. Clinton's goal of a national health system. Cost – $255 billion in Title 1 alone.	No, thanks. Government-run, bureaucrat-led health care is for those who think those lines at the driver's license office are fun and the IRS is your pal.
Impact on your private insurance?	The squeeze is on. Crowds out 2.4 million people from their current health care coverage.	You keep the coverage you have or get the insurance you choose, and parents decide what's best for their kids.
Adults in a program for kids?	Permits enrollment of millions of grown-ups in children's health program, diverting billions of dollars from kids to adults.	The C in SCHIP stands for children, not adults pretending to be children. Pregnant moms and real kids only. Pretending is for Halloween, not health care.

Government health care for illegal aliens?	Spends $2.7 billion so illegal aliens can enroll in Medicaid and SCHIP. They just need get here and sign up.	Government programs are for Americans first. Those who break our immigration laws to get on our social programs are barred.
How about legal immigrants?	Spends $3.1 billion to remove the requirement in current law that new legal immigrants wait five years before enrolling in public-assistance programs.	Five-year requirement is preserved. Legal immigration is about people coming here to work hard and succeed, not people coming here to get on welfare.
Invitations to enroll?	Spends $80,000 per currently SCHIP-eligible person who is not enrolled and who signs up by 2012.	No similar provision.
What about people on Medicare?	Cuts $193 billion from Medicare Advantage and other Medicare programs, dumping 3 million senior citizens out of the health insurance plans that they picked for themselves.	No cuts allowed. Medicare patients fully protected so seniors and kids can both get the care they want and need.
Who wrote these bills, and how?	Sweeping and complex 471-page legislation written in private by Democrats and political activists, unveiled at midnight, rewritten at 3 a.m. No legislative hearings and no subcommittee markup; public reading halted.	Straightforward 30-page reform act unveiled and detailed by Republican authors at news conference, debated in daylight.
Prospects for becoming law?	None. President will veto, Congress will support veto.	Uncertain while Democrats control Congress.
